

Although I have signed up for the New York State "Do not call" service, I still receive unwanted calls. The number of calls have dropped since the service went into effect but the invasive calls that I still receive are something I truly do not want. And most callers do not stop when you tell them no to start with, they just keep at it.